A student's extracurricular profile has become a significant factor in college admissions, speaking volumes to a student's intellectual curiosity, personal excellence, and character. So how do you go about building one? Should a student display a wide variety of interests, or deep interest in a single field? Do colleges care about the quantity over quality of activities? How can you distinguish yourself from other applicants? This is the time to showcase to colleges your passions and accomplishments outside of the classroom.

Join FLEX in our free seminar as we discuss what an extracurricular activities profile is, the relevance of extracurricular and summer activities, and how to build them seamlessly into a robust and cohesive application profile!

What Juniors Must Know About College Admissions

Saturday, December 18th, at 10 a.m. PST

Virtual Webinar

Juniors and parents of juniors - it's time to talk about college applications. Many of you may think application deadlines are still in the distant future - something to be tackled when the insanity of junior year finally eases up. The bad news? It won't ease up.

With a little foresight and planning, juniors can prepare for the challenging tasks that lie ahead. Attend our free webinar to learn what juniors MUST know about college applications and how students can get a head start!

Early Admissions Analysis Class of 2022

Tuesday, December 21st, at 6 p.m. PST

Virtual Webinar

Analyze early application results with FLEX's expert counselors! This year's early application results are particularly important because they give indications of how colleges will value and weigh different criteria during COVID. For the Class of 2022, it could be an indicator of things like value of the SAT, importance of APs, achievement or service, and more. Get the statistics on FLEX's Early Round Decisions to see what worked (and what did not) and for a chance to meet some of our counselors who supported these students in getting into the college of their dreams!
